

Burndown chart

The burndown chart for Sprint 3 is also characterized by a steady upward line as the team members contributed on a timely manner. Most of our team members had midterm exams in the first half of the sprint, therefore some of us had finished their parts as early as a few days into the sprint. Each user story was split up into 3-6 subtasks and all team members worked on those tasks on a regular basis.